It happens all the time
by Brianna Anglesey

She stands out, but stands alone
Got no friends to call her own
And the words you say won’t always fade away
They make bruises that will always stay
They will always stay.

Chorus
She can fly, fly, fly away
Fly away before she breaks
A wrong not a right, day as long as a night.
It happens all the time
It happens all the time.

I’m a shoulder she can cry on
I wanna be the person she can rely on I’ll be the voice to speak when you can’t You’re not alright, no, you’re not alone
You might not get a second chance.

Chorus
So just fly, fly, fly away
Fly away before you break
A wrong not a right, day as long as a night.
It happens all the time
It happens all the time.
