

If I was the Earth

By: Sam Andrea Carlos

If I was the earth I would already give up The weight of Your mistakes destroyed me enough

Though I gave you bright sunny days You gave me pollution and war, although I shall not see it, for that I can feel it

The trees you chopped down makes me feel breathless,
Do you have to underwater drill since it leaves painful holes in my heart?

There are 41,416 animals that are endangered but I might only have 1.5 billion days left to hold on

We all need to know God gave us a chance to live but instead of that you left the forests in ruins, and the sea to oil. Who am I kidding? Nobody cares though!

Thank you Greta Thunberg for letting us know climate change is coming for us. It might be scary for you to know that it is killing me! So God, please save my soul.

But there can be solutions to this dismay Where we can make God's world a better place

We have more time more than what we need so if your for the idea please listen to my needs

We shall pick up a bag of rubbish each day for I that can realise your mistakes can come to a change

Plant a tree everyday so we can breath better as mother nature says

Don't pollute for it shall make sea animals lose but put it in the reduce, reuse and recycle bin where the sea animals can rejoice

You may think it's impossible to save the earth with such little help but the thing is doing small things to save the earth makes a big difference, big or small. God will know you tried to save them all.
